Dear Parents,

Your child has a wonderful opportunity to participate in an in-school field trip. Students will learn about Colorado history by taking on the role of a real person who worked as a trapper or trader in 1834. As they try to earn money and navigate rugged landscapes, they'll explore issues of risk vs. reward, courage, and the rigors of the Rocky Mountain fur trade. Along the way, they will gain or lose points depending on the consequences of their choices. In addition, they will read eyewitness accounts from people who lived at the time.

The cost for the day is $7.50 per student. Please make out checks to the school.

I am so excited that your child will get to experience this fun, engaging and memorable day!
